Community Service Update

Community service is extremely important. It’s one of the best ways a person can spend their time. It’s every single person’s responsibility to help others in the community and beyond.

Virginia TSA’s community service project is to help the fight against cancer through Relay for Life. At the last National Conference, Virginia did not represent very well in this aspect. Only 2 chapters in the STATE turned in money. We didn’t reach our state goal of $3,000, which balanced out to under $0.50 per member. Virginia TSA, we can do so much better! If each chapter raised only $50, we could have almost $10,000! We need to aim higher than what we earned this year.

As head of the State Community Service Project committee, I want this year to be Virginia’s best. I strongly encourage local fundraisers. Local fundraisers can be as large or as small as you want. A few successful ideas are:

- hold a raffle
- do a car wash
- sell t-shirts (my chapter did this, we raised over $500)
- talent shows
- karaoke night at your school

Those few that I listed are some that I have seen do very well. I can’t wait to see all the money you and your chapter raised at States!

Represent Virginia TSA well, and start fundraising!

Respectfully Submitted,
Erin Sullivan
Many of us have been in the crowd at nationals, looking up at those few people every year who decide that they want to serve the association that has given each of them so much. But not so many of you can say you’ve actually been there and put your experiences, both positive and negative, out in front of any and every person in the crowd to pick apart and decide for themselves who the best person for the office is.

I am one of those few. This past year, I decided that it was time. I ran for the national office of treasurer and let me tell you, it was a crazy rush of adrenaline, fear, excitement, and on occasion, pure nausea.

As soon as I decided to run, it all seemed like something that I was prepared for, and nationals seemed to take forever in actually coming. When it did, it hit like a train. I was running around the entire national conference, either campaigning, competing, or helping with state affairs. Even though I had almost no down time, I couldn’t emphasize enough how much just running for a national office impacted my life. Because of the people you get to meet and the experiences of the running process, I can not impress just how amazing running for national office is.

In the end, I wasn’t victorious in my bid for national office. But the knowledge I gained and the experience I earned made it more than worth the effort. I’d say, overall, my national office campaign was, for me, a tremendous success.

Respectfully Submitted,
Kurtis Gross
So you think you’re pretty great. A competitive events genius. You’ve placed at regionals, states, and maybe even nationals. No one can stop you. But you’re like a shark, and if you stand still, you die. So what’s next? What’s left in TSA to challenge you and bring you to the next level? To be perfectly honest, you have two options. You could bail on TSA entirely and try to rack up some trophies in another Student Organization. Or, you could take the plunge and run for regional and state office.

Ok, so you really have only one option, because, let’s face it, none of those other organizations which shall not be named here are nearly as awesome as TSA. So, being the curious champion that you are, you wonder how you might go about running, since it’s never too early to start the process. The first thing you find in your quest to glory and leadership is the regional or state officer application, both already available on the Virginia TSA website, where you write down some basic information, get some signatures, and write a brief paragraph on why you want to be a leader in TSA (though the better question is why wouldn’t you want to). Of course, as the intrepid genius that you are, this part is a breeze.

But, if you haven’t already, now is the time to involve your advisor. Those people have been around this organization way more than you have and are masters of cutting through the application to ensure it is perfect, and nothing stands between you and your destiny as the most awesome person in Virginia TSA.

Having completed the application, you now turn your attention to the climax of your own TSA epic: the conference (note: this section mostly applies to State Officer candidates; many regions don’t have opposed elections). Before you get there, you ponder what you might need to prepare.

First, in your infinite wisdom, you recall that officers have campaign time in which they operate information booths. Knowing this, you begin to construct your display, putting some information about your leadership and TSA experiences as well as some pretty pictures to capture the eye of those walking by.

Secondly, you remember the most lethal weapon in your “get elected” arsenal: the speech. You might be thinking: “shoot me now.” But, being the logical mastermind you are, you realize that, just like other officers did, all you have to do is be yourself. If you can come up with a creative way to show who you are and your strengths (like the current president, Caleb Gum, playing the fiddle), then you can draw voters in with your off the wall nature. Or, you reason, if you can’t really come up with anything cool, just talk to the crowd about pretty much anything and tie it back to TSA (much in the way that your Vice President, Caleb Hurst, did). That said, you won’t follow Mr. Hurst’s example and not write a speech at all and “wing it,” since you’re a smart person. The trick is, you figure, to be relaxed in front of people. No one wants to follow a stressed leader.

Then you realize it’s still October. And you’re stuck waiting six months til Technosphere. But you’re ready! You hope. In your mindless boredom, you have a realization. Having simply jumped in on the advice of an anonymous columnist in the Virginia Scene, you have no idea what you got yourself into. What does it mean to be a state or regional officer? What do you have to do? Will you have to work?

Were this a cheesy soap opera, this is the point where it would say: “Tune in next week for the thrilling conclusion to this exciting drama.” But this isn’t. I might write about that next issue. I might not and leave you hanging to go in blind. You’ll have to see. But anyway, run for office. It’s pretty cool.

Respectfully Submitted,

Caleb Hurst
Photo Op!

This year Virginia TSA will be starting an online archiving program, but to do so we need one thing, YOU! Any photos or videos that you have from any previous year in Virginia TSA please send them to your Virginia TSA Historian, Amanda Billips, at amandabillipstsa@gmail.com. Once you've done so, be on the look out for an online forum documenting and presenting your Virginia TSA pictures for all to see.

Respectfully Submitted,
Amanda Billips
Liberty vs. Security in the Technical World

Earlier this year, Edward Snowden published one of the largest and most devastating leaks of classified documents detailing an NSA surveillance program so vast in scope that it affects nearly everyone on the planet. This kicked off Snowden’s grand tour of every country the US couldn’t get him in, as well as a nationwide debate on the ethics of monitoring.

At the center of this debate is technology. Without the advances in cellular phones as well as internet communications, the NSA would not have nearly the amount of data it has; additionally, with the advent of bigger and better connected technologies such as cloud technology and smart phones, the NSA is better able to gather even better data, even as detailed as your location.

That said, there is no evidence to suggest that the NSA is watching your phone’s GPS. They aren’t allowed to go that far. Nevertheless, the point stands that they could, as could anyone skilled enough in hacking. As technology connects the world, it brings an ancient dilemma: how much freedom are we willing to sacrifice for the sake of security?

According to some people, the answer is none. Senator Rand Paul called Snowden a hero for exposing the NSA’s programs. Indeed, he can claim the support of some of our founding fathers. Benjamin Franklin most notably said that “they who can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.” The idea is that liberty has an inherent value, and if it is compromised once, it establishes a dangerous precedent for more attacks later.

That said, others would argue that security is a necessary precursor. Senator John McCain in particular condemned him strongly for compromising a vital counterterrorism program and giving information to America’s enemies. The program has, according the NSA Chief General Keith Alexander, prevented over fifty terrorist attacks. Imagine if just one of those attacks was half of the scale of the September 11th attacks, proponents argue. Isn’t it worth giving up a little privacy to save the lives of all the people who would die?

Both sides have legitimate points, with support from both political parties. Whatever your stance, as TSA members you are the future of the technical worlds. And as we design the next generation of communications technologies, integrating the world around us more and more seamlessly into our daily lives, we have to be conscious of the ethical dilemmas inherent in our work. Learning to live in a technical world means not only adapting and expanding future technologies, but also building a better world with them. To do that, morality must be a factor. The question is: which morality?

Respectfully Submitted,

Caleb Hurst
Are you interested in helping Virginia TSA offer more programs to our members? Are you passionate about fundraising? Do you want to meet with local businesses to spread the message of TSA? Then the Business Partnership Committee could use your help! The Business Partnership Committee contacts businesses across the state in order to raise funds and community awareness. Not only do we seek funds but also in kind donations, volunteers, and judges. We need students from all regions of Virginia and meet via Skype or Google Hangouts once a month to discuss our goals and progress. So if you are excited about helping Virginia TSA expand our reach Business Partnership Committee is a great opportunity for you to get involved! Contact our state advisor at StateAdvisor@VirginiaTSA.org to join the committee!

Respectfully Submitted,
Kathryn Hutchins-Duda
Free Money

Do I have your attention now? I certainly hope so. Current seniors are really gearing up for the graduation stretch, including college visits, applications and considering how they are going to pay for tuition, room and board, fees, books and much more! Even if you are not a senior it is never too early to begin thinking about this process.

If you are not aware, Virginia TSA offers 3 separate scholarships for graduating seniors. Yet in recent years we have only received applications for 1 of these valuable scholarships. The George R. Willcox $1000 Scholarship is currently being given to 3 persons. It has been some time since Virginia TSA has received an application for either the John Monroe $500 Scholarship or The Thomas Hughes $1000 scholarship. Let’s look at these opportunities:

The $500 Monroe Scholarship for an undergraduate student majoring in teacher preparation – with certification in technology education. The award – in honor of John Monroe, DTE, a Virginia technology educator – is based upon evidence of leadership potential and desire to be a teacher.

The $1,000 Hughes Scholarship for an undergraduate student majoring in teacher preparation – with certification in technology education. The award – in honor of Thomas A. Hughes, Jr., a Virginia technology educator – is based upon evidence of leadership potential and desire to be a teacher.

The $1,000 George R. Willcox Scholarship for an undergraduate student. The award is based upon evidence of leadership.

Applications for these scholarships can be found at the following Link:
Furthermore, TSA INC. awards the William P. Elrod Scholarship annually during the summer national conference. This is currently a onetime $3500 scholarship. An application can be found here: http://www.tsaweb.org/Elrod_Scholarship

I hope your experiences in Technology Education courses and TSA will open your mind to the possibility of a career in a Technical field or even as a Technology & Engineering teacher & TSA Advisor. Where else can you stay involved in TSA throughout your life and offer the opportunities to other young people as it has been provided for you. I promise you it is a thrilling and fulfilling experience! If you are still looking for a career path, Please consider a career as a Technology Education teacher. Remember if you do, there are 2 Scholarships set aside specifically for persons preparing to become Technology Education teachers. If you wish to know what Universities offer degree programs in preparing Technology & Engineering teachers look here: http://www.iteea.org/Resources/institutionalmembers.htm You can also discuss this possibility with your advisor.
Welcome back to another great year in Virginia TSA! Last year was a good year for Virginia TSA and this year provides opportunity for continued growth and a time for Virginia TSA to Shine!

Plans are underway for Fall Rallies. This is a time to meet fellow members from chapters in your Region and find out what’s going on in TSA. Don’t miss out on the opportunity to “Kick your TSA year off” on the right foot. Check out your Fall Rally here: http://virginiatsa.org/fall-rallies/

There were many improvements accomplished last year in Virginia TSA and improvements continue to show up. An active FaceBook page has been utilized by many members. Your current executive council has now added a twitter feed. So let’s hear from all you tweeters out there. Follow us @VirginiaTSA

Virginia TSA grew by over 20 new chapters and 360 new members last year. I hear noise about further new chapters this year. We are on the move, so don’t miss out.

Congratulations to the 273 Virginia TSA members who participated in the TSA National Conference in Orlando, Florida. We had 84 finalist, 12 first place, 8 second place and 11 third place trophies! That was super. Summer of 2014 finds TSA National Conference in our “back yard,” at the Gaylord National resort on the Potomac Bay. As a matter of fact, Virginia TSA will be the Host Delegation. When I mentioned earlier it was our time to Shine, I really meant it. So start preparing now to attend and participate in the National Conference June 27 – July 1 in Washington DC.

Last year’s Technosphere boasted some new features including an Advisors Dragster Challenge. Plans are underway for more events to be added this year. Make sure you share your ideas with your Virginia TSA Executive council.

I hope you are as excited about this year as I am! I have always operated on the premise that you get out of something, only what you put into it. What do you expect to get out of TSA this year? Virginia TSA; Onward & Upward!

Respectfully Submitted,

Andy Stephenson
State Advisor
Meet The 2013-2014 Virginia TSA Executive Council!
Salvete Omnes Virginiae TSA! My name is Caleb Gum, many of you know me as “fiddle guy”, and I am proud to be serving as your 2013 – 2014 Virginia TSA State President! Last year, I served as your Virginia TSA State Secretary, and I am more than excited to be able to serve you for another year. Serving on the Executive Council last year was an awesome experience, and being elected as your President means a great deal to me. TSA has been a huge part of my life since 7th grade, and as my final year as a high school student looms, I’m so glad I can represent you in my office. Through TSA I have met some of the most interesting people in the world, stood beside them in competition and conventions, and am so ready to continue doing so! Virginia TSA has long been one of the strongest competitors and most prominent speakers in all of National TSA, and as our membership keeps rising, I believe that trend will continue. This year is looking promising, and I believe that our officer team will be able to communicate and work effectively to help make Virginia TSA even more successful. Aside from TSA, I am a rising senior at both Turner Ashby High School and Massanutten Regional Governors School, where I am very active in competition and research. Through Scholastic Bowl, Forensics, and Debate, I have been able to compete at many conferences, and I am also an active member of Latin club (hence my greeting) and FBLA. I am a strong believer in the power of public speaking and parliamentary procedure, and because of these I am confident for this next year of working as a state officer. If you ever want to ask me a question or contact me about anything, just send me an email at calebgumtsa@gmail.com. Let’s have another great year, Virginia TSA!

Respectfully Submitted,

Caleb Gum
Virginia TSA President
Since every one of these bios ever written begins with “Hello Virginia TSA, my name is...” I won’t. I’m different like that. My name’s Caleb Hurst, by the way. State Vice President. Just so you know. Because the entire purpose of this bio is for you to get to know your officers a bit, I’ll tell you a little about me. I don’t have free weekends. Whether it’s TSA, debate, or FBLA, I’ve usually got somewhere I need to be. It’s a pretty helter-skelter ride, but I enjoy it. Better to keep moving all the time than sit still. On the off chance I do have some free time, I like to hike as far away from other people as possible. No offense to all the “people” reading this, but I need a break every now and then. I’m a big time bow hunter, and though I’m not quite Hawkeye, I’m not a bad shot. As far as my future plans, this year has been weird in that I know exactly what I want to do and exactly how to do it. My dream school is the United States Naval Academy, because that puts me on the fast track to my chosen career path: an officer in the Navy. But, should I get rejected from the academy (not unlikely), I’ll go to a civilian school and study either history or international relations, and then hope to get commissioned in the Navy after I graduate. This year is my last hoorah in TSA, and I really hope I can do something positive for you and this organization on my way out. If anyone has any questions about me, joining a committee (yes, you can serve on a Virginia TSA committee even if you aren’t a state officer), TSA in general, or really anything, feel free to email me at calebhurst_tsa@yahoo.com. I’m looking forward to what should be a pretty awesome year this time around.

Respectfully Submitted,

Caleb Hurst
Forgive me in advance for the awkward biography, I hate writing about myself. Well, I’m Erin Sullivan, and I’m a freshman from the small town of Abingdon. I’m a percussionist in the Abingdon High School Marching Band, and on the AHS and competitive swim team.

I was originally the Southwestern Regional President, but after an unfortunate situation, the office of Secretary was open. The State Council elected me into the position of State Secretary, so here I am, extremely proud to be serving you this year as your State Secretary!

I love to perform. Whether it be piano, chorus concerts, musicals, marching band, or singing at the Farmer’s Market downtown, I love to be on a stage. I’ll sing just about any time of day, including in public, so don’t be surprised when you see me at Technosphere in mid song.

This will be my fourth year in TSA, and I’ve been a Chapter and Region Officer every year. I’m a Roberts Rules geek, which pays off in Chapter Team. I also love making videos and debating.

This year, I hope to strengthen communication between the State Council and the Virginia Chapters; I also plan to assist my Region in starting new chapters. Another big goal I have for this year is to get colleges coming to our State Technosphere.

I look forward to this upcoming year in TSA and on the State Council!

Respectfully Submitted,
Erin Sullivan
Hello Virginia TSA! My name is Arindam Gupta and I am proud to be once again, your 2013-2014 Virginia TSA State Treasurer! Just to briefly tell you guys about myself, I am a rising junior in Richmond, VA, have been in TSA for about 4 years now, play varsity football for my high school team, and just simply love being in TSA! I am very excited for this coming year and what it has to offer for Virginia TSA. We continue to grow in numbers and I am almost positive we can be at 10,000 members once again. Personally for me, I’d like to gain partnerships with a few companies within Virginia and help promote TSA. This is a great association and it needs to be known out in the business and technology world. As always, continue to maintain a balanced budget, keep accurate records of all funds, and make sure our financial obligations are met promptly. Virginia, thank you for allowing me to be your treasurer one again and I hope everyone has a great year ahead of them!

Respectfully Submitted,

Arindam Gupta
Virginia TSA Treasurer
Hello Virginia TSA, my name is Kelsey Stoner and it is my pleasure to be serving as your 2013-2014 State Reporter! I could not be more excited about the year to come! I am a sophomore at Deep Run High School and play on my school’s women’s soccer team. My goal is to play division 1 women’s soccer in college. Not positive on where yet, but I am working hard at figuring that out! am also very involved with travel soccer outside of school and as a hobby I really enjoy photography. As of now, the major I am most interested in is product design. My dream is to design products for Nike or another sports company. As a member of the Technology Student Association, I have been extremely involved since my first meeting in 6th grade. This is my 5th year as a member in TSA and first time being on the Executive Council. Serving as your reporter, I will always strive to make this organization the best it can possibly be. I aspire to benefit this association as much as possible and will never give up on that! My main goal this year is to get the Virginia Scene more popular! If there is any information that you would like to submit to the Virginia Scene, I am the girl for the job! Email me at stonerkelsey@gmail.com!

Respectfully Submitted,

Kelsey Stoner
Hello Virginia TSA! My name is Rajan Jani, and I have been given the opportunity to serve as your 2013-2014 Virginia TSA Sergeant-at-Arms. I am a rising junior at Henrico High School in the International Baccalaureate program and I have been in TSA for the past four years. Besides TSA, I am the Vice-President of my school’s Beta Club and Key Club. In addition, I am a member of the Model United Nations club and Mu Alpha Theta (Math Honor Society) of my school.

As your Virginia TSA Sergeant-at-Arms, I am excited and ready to have a voice to represent all the members in Virginia TSA. Throughout the next year, I plan on conducting many things including: promoting membership within chapters and encouraging more and more people to attend and compete at conferences. In addition, it is my responsibility to make sure everyone is comfortable and properly welcomed; it is also my duty to serve as the doorkeeper for the association. I look forward to meeting everybody, and also serving as your 2013-2014 Virginia TSA Sergeant-at-Arms!

Respectfully Submitted,
Rajan Jani
Hello Virginia TSA, my name is Amanda Billips and I am so excited to be serving as your 2013-2014 Virginia TSA Historian. This next year I will be returning to Highland Spring High School in the Center for Engineering as a junior. I have been an active member of TSA since the 6th grade and have loved every minute of it. Along with TSA I have played softball since I was 4 years old, making the Varsity softball team last year. Ever since my very first meeting, my very first regional conference, my very first state conference, and my very first national conference I have been hooked. Within TSA I have held many chapter and regional offices, and I am now ready to show my skills upon the Executive Council. I hope to meet and talk to all of you at some point. I hope all of you will all pitch in on my videos for this year! I can’t wait for this upcoming year!

Respectfully Submitted,

Amanda Billips
My name is Kurtis Gross. I am currently a Junior at Abingdon High School. I am from the Southwestern region, where I served as Regional President last year. I am sixteen years old, and have been in TSA for 6 years. I enjoy swimming, playing in my school’s marching band, and participating in the Website Design Competition through TSA.

My goals for this year are few, but grand. My major goal is to continue a partnership with the Washington College in Maryland to use their online GIS class for Students who can’t take a class in school but would still like to compete. My other plans are to complete the goals of the Parliamentarian as effectively as possible, and continue to learn Robert’s Rules of Order.

Respectfully Submitted
Kurtis Gross
Hello my name is Shanmuka Gadiraju and I am the new Northern Virginia Regional President. There are several things that I have noticed in my 2 years on the regional council that I would like to change. There has always been a somewhat poor attendance at the Northern Fall Rally. It might be because no one knows about it or no one believes it is that important so I would like to work and execute a program to help increase the participation of the Fall Rally. I would like to create flyers and emails with my council to raise the awareness of the Fall Rally and explain what will be accomplished there so more people are willing to attend. I would like to instead of little team building games to get people to work together, which is great, create several different groups on teaching students basics of being an officer or how to win events etc. as well as include several team building activities. All positions are filled on the Northern Regional Council so I do not have to try to find someone to fill vacant positions. There are many new regional officers on the Northern Council so I would like to have a small informational session for members of the Regional Council so they get a brief description of what they have to accomplish this year as a Regional Officer. I also would like to create a database of teachers so that every chapter is connected to each other and information will be passed smoothly. It’s always better to increase communication so that events such as the Fall Rally and Spring Fair run effectively without any major problems. I believe I can accomplish all these goals within this term of office and I with the help of my advisor the Regional Council we will strive in improve Virginia TSA.

Respectfully Submitted,
Shanmuka Gadiraju
Greetings Virginia TSA! My name is Kathryn Hutchins-Duda and I have the honor of serving as your 2013-2014 Virginia TSA South Central Regional President for a second. I am currently a senior at Deep Run High School and Highland Springs Technical Center in Henrico County.

This is my seventh year of participating in TSA and it has been an amazing journey. TSA has opened my eyes to the wide world of engineering and technology, and made engineering into my future career. Some of my favorite competitions include System Control Technology, Promotional Graphics, and On Demand Video. System Control combines two of my passions TSA and FIRST Robotics. Also, I am a senior Girl Scout and I repair computers at my high school’s help desk. I am excited to put my experience to work this year as a member of your state executive council to help the association continue to grow and to help students “learn to live in a technical world!”

Respectfully Submitted,

Kathryn Hutchins-Duda
Hello, my name is Brett Fochtmann. I am currently, a sophomore, at Middlesex High School. I have been involved in TSA for five years, and have served as Sergeant-at-Arms, Historian, and President of the Tidewater Region. Over the past year, serving as the Tidewater Regional President, I have learned a lot and hope that with this knowledge and the understanding from my past positions and current experiences will allow me to work to improve the region and state with the best of my God given abilities. Some of the other activities I participate in are running track and field and cross-country. Additionally, I play the baritone saxophone in the marching and concert band. I sing in the York River District Youth choir and am active with their mission group. I have been a Boy Scout all of my life and was a troop leader last year. I look forward to this coming year and can’t wait to see you all as we go into this upcoming year.

Respectfully Submitted,
Brett Fochtmann
My name is Sydney Walker and I am a sophomore at Stuarts Draft High School. I have been in TSA for three years and was Valley Region's Treasurer last year. This is my first year on the Executive Council; I am excited to be apart of this and to learn many new things. Outside of TSA I am cheerleading for football. I am also apart of the school's Literacy Magazine/Writer's Club. Over the past year I have become heavily involved in my school's Drama department. I operated the souls for "It's A Wonderful Life" and the lights for "The Rehearsal" and the spring musical "Les Misérables." On May 30th, I was inducted into the International Thespian Society. For our Drama Club I am this year's Social Chair. I also volunteer at my local library and can ALWAYS be found with my nose in a book.

Respectfully Submitted,

Sydney Walker
My name is Mary Grace Sawyer. This upcoming school year I will be in the 10th grade and 15 years old. Besides being on the internet, I enjoy being in my high school’s color guard and creating art. This past year was my first year with the marching band and it was amazing. I also participated in my school’s choir and we did many concerts over the school year. After high school I plan to go to college and get a degree in graphic design. From there I really want to go into character design. This upcoming year will be my second year with TSA. My first year with this organization was great and I loved having regionals at Lord Botetourt. I am very excited for the upcoming events such as the Fall Rally and Regionals. I think TSA will be a great opportunity for me to make many friends and help me learn how to be a better leader.

Respectfully Submitted,

Mary Grace Sawyer
Hello, my name is Jessica Strait and I'm an 8th grader at EB Stanley Middle School. I love nerds and all things nerdy! I play the alto saxophone in marching band. My pride is my poetry, which has been published in two different collections. I'm proud to have a mild obsession with Tim Burton movies. My favorite TSA competitions are Chapter Team and Website Design. I don't want to bore anyone with a lot of details, so I'll end it with one of my favorite quotes: "Be nice to the nerds; one day, you'll be working for one." -Bill Gates

Respectfully Submitted,
Jessica Strait
The Virginia Scene

CONTACT US

Write!
Virginia State University
PO Box 9045
Petersburg Virginia, 23806

Call or Fax!
Office (804) 524-5549
Fax (804) 524-6807

Explore!
www.VirginiaTSA.org

Email!
Andy Stephenson
stateadvisor@virginiatsa.org

Upcoming Events

Regional Fall Rallies
Leadership Academy